

The Directions for Improving the Preparation of Future Specialists with the Usage of National Values

Rahima Jiyankulova

Teacher, Samarkand State University.
Samarkand, Uzbekistan

Abstract - The article deals with the issue of improving the teaching and methodological support of future specialists in vocational preparing using national values.

Keywords - national values, amelioration, system, educational-methodical, practical-methodical, supplement, efficiency, mechanism, primary education, opportunities, positive-pedagogical, contemporary progress, educational process, flawless generation, pedagogy.

It has been estimated that, in order to educate the future personnel perfectly, the integration of science, practice and education is crucial and it is capable of assisting to enhance the process. And one of the most pivotal matters of this issue is educating the specialists mentally and professionally mature, and imposing the interactive methods as well as innovative pedagogical technologies of instructing the students ethically by making use of glorious spiritual heritages and values of our nation. Further and even more pivotally, how to engage the aforementioned heritages and values in terms of growing up the future personnel is being regarded as one of the indispensable problems that is ought to be solved in contemporary period.

The matters of enhancing the educational resources of instructing future generations mentally mature by utilizing national values and traditions are put forward in this research work.

The data yielded by this study provides convincing evidence that a myriad of branches and types of national values (national history and peculiar features, traditions, material and spiritual heritages that are being maintained by forefathers of the nation) are able to be witnessed since they have been figured and ameliorated on the course of glorious historical path of the nation. Owing to the fact that national peculiarities have been shaped during the ages, they are capable of being considered as one of the crucial sources of tutoring the descendants and they possess a great and irreplaceable significance in growing up the future generation, precisely, pedagogical personnel mentally and physically.

Throughout our honorable past, aforementioned values were utilized by our ancestors and these means deserve for being submitted as a real by spel of growing up the future generation mentally, spiritually and physically healthy and this affirms the indispensable role of national traditions and heritages on the course of instructing mature personnel.

As the first President of our country adored to repeat in his speeches, the tomorrow of the country is in the hands of the youth, and consequently, this method is profoundly connected with the modernization of our country in terms of assisting the state to acquire the top levels among the developed countries around the globe, since the personnel we are tutoring will educate our descendants tomorrow. And therefore teaching pedagogical specialists possesses a marginal divergence as this process ought to include the integration of various fields. In this process, in order to expand the outlook of the personnel, assure that they are likely to become autonomous in their future career, imposing the cutting-edge technologies and nonstandard methods of educating are needed. As teaching morally and intellectually mature specialists has taken a front seat to other priorities in many educational establishments, such as vocational colleges and academic lyceums, by providing them with satisfactorily informative sources together with making the national traditions and heritages widespread in this process is able to assist to solve this matter as well as a great efficiency of teaching can also be reached. Moreover, it is affirmed in the “National program for cadres training” that “establishing the perfect system of educating the youth on the basis of national wealthy values as well as humanitarian traditions is the primary accomplishment of Uzbekistan”. The arguments which are mentioned above as well as their expression in legitimate documents are capable of being regarded as indispensable illustrations of necessity for professionally, mentally and physically mature personnel in our country. Due to the fact that our research is devoted to enhance the educational-methodical supplements of teaching the future generations in the pedagogical field, the method of utilizing the national values is planned to be imposed in merely this field as a number of facilities can be noticed here. And these opportunities are followings:

1) The opportunities in the continuous education system: national didactic sources in the courses of primary education; the data concerning the history and traditions of the nation in the subjects of secondary education, from 5th-9th grades such as Literature, Patriotism, Computer technologies, Biology, Geography and etc.; national spirit of the subjects such as Mother tongue, Literature, Individual and Community, Family Psychology, Practical Geography, History, Psychology and Constitution of Uzbekistan that are taught in pedagogical colleges;

2) Social and general opportunities: the glorious and honorable spiritual heritage of our great forefathers that possess an essential contribution in the world civilization and the opportunity of investigating them; thanks to the independence, to study our wealthy history and culture as well as linking today's modernization with our historical values in any field of life has become the main responsibility of today's contemporary era; teaching our glorious historical types of art to the future generations and developing the method of tutoring our national art in order to raise the feelings of patriotism in the souls of the future generation have become one of the pivotal accomplishments of Independent Uzbekistan; creating the national spirit and love in every school, college, community, household, and more importantly, in every mind and soul of the denizens can be fulfilled easily due to the independence; any volunteer is able to be a real witness of the examples of our national art, sculpture, culture and literature, and the youth are likely to imitate our local famous people and therefore to teach them by utilizing national values is able to be fulfilled simply.

The opportunities aforementioned are devoted to instruct the specialists with national spirit in the fields of sports as well as pre-school education and the accomplishments of those are expected to be fulfilled in following steps:

1) Investigating the theoretical basis of the methods of preparing the future specialists by utilizing the national values. On the course of the investigation the requirements and the gist of the instructing future personnel according to national traditions ought to be taken into consideration; furthermore, the knowledge of the specialists in this process demands the primary attention;

2) Working on the scientific and methodological basis of the teaching young personnel according to the national traditions. So as to fulfill that researching the fore deals and essence of the future career of our personnel together with establishing the approximate model of them is to be done firstly; secondly, revealing the basis of the national traditions and the educating system of the research in terms of national values; utilizing cutting-edge technology and founding the necessity for them in the process from the sociological point of view; organizing the methods of developing the process of preparing young personnel to the future career according to national traditions.

3) Organizing the methodological basis of the preparing future specialists to their career requires to accomplish followings: identifying the link between the subjects of educational establishments and national traditions and the directions of uniting them; controlling the process of instruction of didactic subjects in terms of national values; and imposing the methods of preparing future specialists to their future careers according to national traditions in the electronic subjects.

4) Establishing the technological basis of preparing future personnel with regards to national values and this includes followings: linking the process with up-to-date technology in connection with national traditions and values; and providing the educational establishments with the technological basis of teaching the youth and preparing them to their future working process; founding the methods of teaching young personnel to their future career according to national traditions in connection with cutting-edge technology;

5) Identifying the efficiency of teaching the youth in vocational colleges according to national traditions; working out the mechanism of identifying the efficiency of the utilization of national traditions in teaching process of preparing the personnel to future; practicing the mechanism and organizing the means of accomplishing that together with identifying the errors.

At the end of recapitulating the whole, it is worth once being reaffirmed that the method of utilizing the national values and traditions is likely to be a real didactic basis in teaching well-educated and flawless future personnel.

To conclude, the methods and theories mentioned above are considered to be universal and are capable of being used in any sphere of education with the guarantee of high efficiency on the course of the process.

REFERENCES

- [1] The National program for cadres training of Uzbekistan. Istiqlol, 2004, pages 9-24
- [2] Using national values in the vocational colleges. Djiyankulova R.Kh, T2012, №3, pages 22-25
- [3] The role of national values in reparation future personnel for working process. Djiyankulova R.Kh, T2014, №4, pages 115-120
- [4] Preparation pedagogic specialists for future career. Djiyankulova R.Kh. T2014, №2, pages 59-61